Calisher'sVICTOR MOORE IS PUT UNDER ARREST

El Paso Attorney Charged With Killing and Killing 19 Quail Has Close Call From Being Convicted.

Van Horn, Tex., Oct. 10.—Victor C. Moore, an attorney at El Paso, who is here in attendance on court, and who, during his spare moments, has been doing much hunting herabouts, was last night arrested on a complaint sworn out by the game warden, charging him with violating the game laws. Mr. Moore was arrested while at supper in a local restaurant where he had arranged a little dinner for his friends in which the fruits of his prowess in the mountains near Van Horn were served.

When Mr. Moore was through supper, he was taken before the justice of the peace, Bernard Mullane. Joseph M. Nealon volunteered to represent him in the case and W. W. Bridges represented the state. Mr. Bridges called several witnesses and all of them stated that while they had not seen Mr. Moore shoot any quail they had heard him boast that he had slaughtered many during his visits here. The cook at the restaurant was then called and testified that Mr. Moore had given him a few dozen quail to cook for the night.

Mr. Bridges was himself a witness and stated that he had been hunting a great deal with Mr. Moore in the past, and that from his experience with him, he did not believe he could hit anything, though it might be possible that Mr. Moore accidentally killed something. He insisted, however, that Mr. Moore be fined for what birds he said he killed. It looked as though the justice of the peace was going to enter a fine and Mr. Moore had Mr. Nealon sue out a writ of habeas corpus before judge Jackson, but on second thought Moore concluded that if judge Jackson could lock Mr. Moore up in the county jail, where there is only one other occupant at present, he would do so, hence they decided not to press the writ.

On reading over the complaint later Mr. Moore discovered that he was charged with having killed and eaten 19 quail. The nine thirty closing law of the state is that no person shall be able to show his appreciation in a substantially liquid manner.

BAPTIST BROTHERHOOD TO HAVE BANQUET TONIGHT

Tonight at the First Baptist church the Brotherhood of the church will have a banquet. Rev. O. J. Wade, pastor of the Calvary-Houston Square Baptist church, will speak on the subject of "Brotherhood and Rev. A. E. Boyd, pastor of the Highland Park Baptist church, will discuss the subject, "Men and Civil Rights." The church choir, will render a musical program.

The men of the congregation and the men who are members of the church are invited. At 7 o'clock all present will sit down to a supper prepared by ladies of the church.

A. E. Koehler, Jr., former advertising manager of the El Paso Evening News, now at work on a special edition of the Phoenix Gazette, is in El Paso, returning from St. Louis, where he has resigned a contract with the Star-Chronicle to get out a book of biographical information of prominent men in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

SERVICE RATES TOO HIGH, IS COMPLAINT

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 10.—A complaint charging that the rates demanded by the South Side Gas & Electric company for service in Mesa, are "unjust and unreasonable," has been filed by the state incorporation commission. An action instituted by citizens against the rates charged by the same company in Tempe, is pending.

In the new complaint the commission asserts that since the company supplies both water with gas and electricity the same plants, it is necessary to secure a complete valuation of the property before rates can be fixed in either place.

Will Uphold Ritual Theory.

Kiev, Russia, Oct. 10.—The trial of Mendel Beilis, accused of the murder of a Christian boy, Andrew Yushinsky, on March 25, 1911, near Kiev, has begun here. Intense interest is manifested in the trial because of the announcement of the prosecutor of the intention of upholding the theory of ritual murder. The mutilated body of Andrew Yushinsky, a 12 year old boy, was discovered in a small cave in a suburb. The hands were tied behind the back and examination showed many wounds.

Federal Court Typical Scene

Dignity Characteristic Procedure When Judge Maxey Enters—No Time Lost Getting Down to Business.

By Norman M. Walker

ALL is in the open season for federal court in El Paso. Monday when the court clerk called his ancient and honorable "oyes, oyes" to open the court the dingy third floor of the federal building had taken on an animation which is as wonderful as the works of one Aladdin, the journeyman magician of olden times.

For months the old federal building offers no more attraction to the wayfarer than a bargain sale of stamps, two twos and a one for a nickel, of the customary customs duties. Then the court clerk chants his mystic messe sage and presto, the cow men and court officials, Chinese, Mexicans and negroes, boil out of the old elevator, fill up the corridors, lounge on the steps and occupy every available foot of space on the top story.

Typical of West Texas.

Monday the scene was typical of west Texas at court time. Cow men rode up and down the elevator with the same feeling that they ride an unbroken bronco, the Mexicans walked up the three flights to escape the "devil machine" and the court officers, clerks and jurymen "milled" back and forth between the courtroom and the clerk's office, attorneys elbowed their clients, Mexican revolutionists, with their big hats and brown suits, huddled timidly in a dark corner as they feared arrest and women witnesses in the white slave cases sat on the benches in the corridors and watched the crowd go by.

Questions Keep Clerks Busy.

One of the clerks established a temporary office in one end of the long hall and called out witnesses' names until he was hoarse. In the marshal's office deputies attended the door and in the clerk's office the clerks' routine duties whenever they could get away from the questions who wanted to know where they could get excused from the clerk's office. The clerk's office was where the grand jury met and many other where and whereof the clerk and his assistants operated another bureau of information in their office and the grand jury room was the only one left vacant, for no one seemed desirous of entering a room where they expected to be called later by the federal grand jury.

Decorum Relaxed Within.

With a somber and court room Judge Maxey presided with his fine, old-school dignity, his vest present silver pitcher of water on the desk and a milk bottle filled with bright autumn flowers at his elbow. Back of the judge's bench were the chief justices of the supreme court, in front of the court room, the long attorneys' dockets in the federal court sat and talked in whispers for there must be no smoking and no loud talking in Judge Maxey's court. While the lawyers were waiting for their cases to be called, the grand jury met in the judge's chambers and the grand jury met in the judge's chambers and the grand jury met in the judge's chambers.

There is no lost motion about the federal court procedure. As soon as Judge Maxey was comfortably seated in his high backed chair Capt. Hart called the grand jury, they were sworn and promptly excused, but all others had to excuse on account of a rush of business. But Judge Maxey excuses no one because of business and he reluctantly takes the oath. A postmaster at Marfa and a state ranger had been summoned by mistake and were promptly excused, but all others had to excuse on account of a rush of business. The pet jury is next called, sworn and examined and the docket is taken up in detail.

Resembles Supreme Court Procedure.

The federal court that is similar, attorneys say, to that which attracts tourists in Washington to the supreme court of the United States. The dignity of the law is upheld in the federal court, there are none of the so-called law's dogs and no man enters there who does not leave with an added respect for "the United States and this honorable court."

BRAUN DAMAGE CASE AGAINST T. & P. DISMISSED.

Upon the application of the attorney for the plaintiff, the case of F. W. Braun against the Texas & Pacific railroad was dismissed on a nonsuit Thursday afternoon in the federal court. Braun alleged that he had been assaulted by terminal superintendent E. R. Smith while getting a service letter from the superintendent. After the plaintiffs attorneys had introduced the evidence they asked for a nonsuit and the case was dismissed. Braun was suing for $15,000.

CHAS. BUNTS WEDS GIRL FROM SEGUIN

"Show your tickets, please," a request he himself has made several hundred thousand times to passengers at the union station—greeted gateman "Charlie" Bunts last night when he and Mrs. Bunts, a bride of a few hours, left El Paso on their honeymoon.

Bunts has been a gateman at the union station for five years and he was listed by his friends in the confirmed bachelor class. But the "little blind god" would not have it so. Thursday afternoon Bunts was married to Miss Sophia Roamel, of Seguin, Tex. The ceremony was performed at the home of Miss Roamel's sister, Mrs. Rosalie Peyer, 510 Tays street, by Rev. C. Wesley Weddell, of Trinity Methodist church. Mrs. R. Bunt, aunt of the bride-to-be, gave her away.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunts have gone to Seguin to visit relatives. They will also visit in Galveston before returning here to make their home.

HILL LOOKS OVER CANAL

Louis C. Hill, head of the southern district of the United States reclamation service, and L. M. Lawson, project engineer with headquarters at El Paso, spent several hours Thursday looking over the Franklin canal, near the dam at Hart's mill.

Hooray! Blood Free of Impurities

Eczema Gone! Acne, Tetters,

Rash, Pimples, Carbuncles,

Bulls—Banished!

It is certainly remarkable how quickly the action of S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, shows itself in the skin.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which peculiarly stimulates cellular and glandular activity to select from the blood, or from the fine network of blood vessels in the skin, those elements which it requires for regeneration.

This pimples, acne, eczema, lupus, or any other blood condition that attacks the skin or seeks an outlet through the skin is met with the antidotal effect of S. S. S.

This is why skin troubles vanish so readily and why they do not return. Under the influence of S. S. S. this fine net work of blood vessels in the skin is constantly selecting from the blood the nutrition required for healthy tissue, and the cause of disease is just as constantly being removed, scattered and rendered harmless.

It is a great mistake to rely upon cathartics to cure pimples or other facial eruptions. Not only do cathartics cause chronic constipation, but they thin the blood of its valuable and essential preservatives.

You will be surprised and delighted at the quick change if you will use S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. Its action in the skin is quite sensational. These facts are most fully explained in a book on skin troubles sent by the Swift Specific Co., 412 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. Get a bottle today and banish all skin afflictions.

When you ask for S. S. S. look out for the common trick of trying to sell you something else. Don't be misled.
